Mandatory Team Members

- · Parents are always invited.
- Mandatory members include:
 Not less than one regular education teacher of the child;
 - Not less than one special education teacher of the child;
- Not less than one special education teacher of the child;
 A representative of the public agency who is qualified to provide or supervise specially designed instruction, is knowledgeable about the general education curriculum, and is knowledgeable about the availability of resources of the public agency.
 An individual who can interpret the instructional implications of evaluation results.
 C.F.R. §300.321.

Mandatory Team Members

- In most cases, related service providers are NOT mandatory team members.
- Beyond the mandatory membership, districts have authority to allocate resources for team meetings.

FAPE is still FAPE • Neither Congress or the USDE have authorized a departure from the long-established FAPE standards during the pandemic. • IEP teams must go through the same steps to propose an IEP based on a student's unique educational needs.

Secretary of Education Report to Congress April 27, 2020

The Department is not requesting waiver authority for any of the core tenets of IDEA or Section 504, most notably FAPE in the LRE.

Letter to Special Education and Early Intervention Partners, August 24, 2021

OSERS made clear that, for the 2020-2021 school year, no IDEA requirements were waived.

Letter to Special Education and Early Intervention Partners, August 24, 2021

OSERS further clarified that, no matter what primary instructional delivery approach was chosen for that year, SEAs and LEAs remained responsible for ensuring that FAPE was available to all children with disabilities.

The FAPE Standard

"But [the student's] educational program must be appropriately ambitious in light of his circumstances, just as advancement from grade to grade is appropriately ambitious for most children in the regular classroom. The goals may differ, but every child should have the chance to meet challenging objectives."

Endrew F. v. Douglas County Sch. Dist. RE-1, (U.S. 2017).

Remember, FAPE is aligned with the general curriculum.

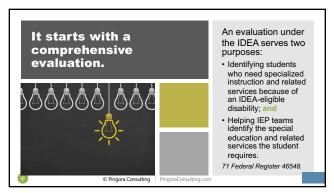

- 34 C.F.R. §300.39(b)(3)
- Specially designed instruction means adapting as appropriate to the needs of an eligible child the content, methodology, or delivery of instruction –
- To address the unique needs of a child that result from the disability, and
- To ensure access of the child to the general curriculum, so that the child can meet the educational standards that apply to all children.

No educational need? If the disability does not adversely affect educational performance, the student is NOT eligible under IDEA. 34 C.F.R. §300.8. If the child does not need special education, or specially designed instruction, the child is NOT eligible under IDEA. 34 C.F.R. §300.8. If the student only needs a related service and NOT specially designed instruction, the student is NOT eligible under IDEA. 34 C.F.R. §300.8.

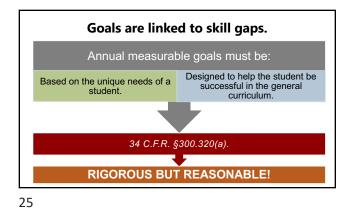

PRESENT LEVELS
More than just test scores!

ACADEMIC AND FUNCTIONAL
Explain present levels of academic achievement and functional performance. What skills does the student currently have?

ACROSS ENVIRONMENTS
How does the student perform throughout the school day?

THE GENERAL CURRICULUM
How does the student's disability affect his/her involvement in the general curriculum?

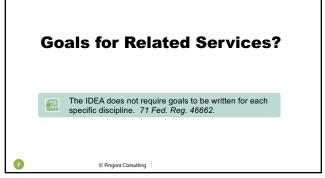

What about behavior?

If a skill gap is behavior that interferes with learning, the team must address behavior in the IEP.

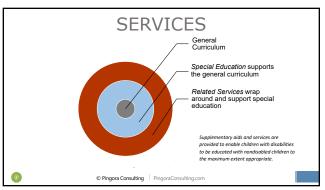

Use behavioral goals or behavior intervention plans to improve a student's behavior and help close that skill gap.

Once determined by the team, SERVICES MUST BE PROVIDED IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE IEP!

No Freestyling!

FAPE means special education and related services provided in conformity with an IEP. 34 C.F.R. §300.17.

No single team member or provider is free to make unilateral changes to the amount, frequency, or type of special education service.

Keep Provider Logs!

In the event of a challenge, you must be able to verify services were provided in conformity with the IEP.

Service provider logs are the most straightforward way to document services from an itinerant provider.

Educational Benefit

It's all about progress.

How will you know if its working?

Progress monitoring.

- Data. Collect and share data at a high frequency.
- Monitor progress toward IEP goals and progress in the general curriculum.
- Stay vigilant and communicate with parents.

37

What is a reasonable amount of progress?

The team already determined a reasonable progress amount.

- Rigorous. Challenging. Targeted. Unique.
- Reasonable. How much of the skill gap can we expect to close?

What happens if a student makes no/little progress?

The 4 Rs

- Who? The team.
- When? A reasonable amount of time.
- Why? If the IEP is not recalibrated, a denial of FAPE will result.

RESTRATEGIZE

- · What services and supports does the student need to meet the goals?
- 34 C.F.R. §300.320(a)(4)
 - A statement of the special education and related services and supplementary aids and services to be provided to the child, or on behalf of the child, and a statement of the program modifications or supports for school personnel that will be provided to enable the child—

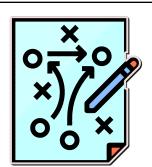

49

RESTRATEGIZE

- 34 C.F.R. §300.320(a)(4)
 - To advance appropriately toward attaining the annual goals;
 - To be involved in and make progress in the general education curriculum in accordance with paragraph (a)(1) of this section, and to participate in extracurricular and other nonacademic activities; AND
 - To be educated and participate with other children with disabilities and nondisabled children in the activities described in this section.

50

RESTRATEGIZE

- Ask what is the least restrictive environment where the student can be successful.
- · Understand the difference between placement and location.

REVISE

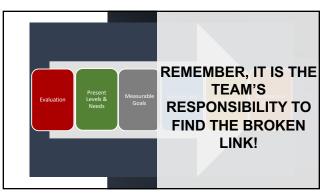

- NOW, revise the IEP to meet the student's current needs.
- \checkmark Annual IEP or an amendment.
- \checkmark Provide services and supports in conformity with the IEP.
- ✓ Collect and report frequent progress data.
- If the student is NOT receiving the anticipated educational benefit, or if the student makes UNANTICIPATED progress, GO BACK TO THE 4 Rs.

Hood River County Sch. Dist. v. Student, 79 IDELR 40 (D. Oregon 2021). • An Oregon district's failure to credibly explain why it waited nearly two years to evaluate a child was responsible for a substantial compensatory education award. Concluding that the district violated the IDEA's child find mandate and denied the child FAPE, the Court ordered the district to provide the child 900 hours of compensatory education. • After reviewing a private October 2016 evaluation report that included a diagnosis of autism, the district advised the parents to postpone an IDEA evaluation until the child entered kindergarten. • Under the law, a district must evaluate a child it suspects has a disability that necessitates special education services. D.C. v. Klein Indep. Sch. Dist., 79 IDELR 4 (5th Cir. 2021).

 A Texas district unreasonably delayed evaluating an elementary school student who struggled with reading comprehension and failed to develop an adequate IEP for the student.

- adequate IEP for the student.

 If a student has a 504 plan addressing an academic deficit but fails to progress for several months despite accommodations, that's a signal the child may need specialized instruction. Unlike this district, which waited several months after it knew the child's reading comprehension wasn't improving, districts in such situations should move quickly to evaluate, or, if they determine an evaluation is unnecessary, fully document their reasoning in a procedural safeguards notice to the parents.
- The delay was unreasonable and denied the student FAPE.

McLaughlan v. Torrance Unified Sch. Dist., 79 IDELR 75 (C.D. Cal. 2021).

- It may sometimes be difficult to develop an appropriate educational program for a student, especially if he requires intensive services to address his deficits and behaviors.
- In those circumstances, the district should promptly modify the IEP if it's clear that the program isn't meeting the student's needs.
- Because this student became easily overstimulated in group settings, he could not tolerate the 314 minutes per day of group instruction required by his IEP.
- To ensure the student received FAPE, the district should have immediately considered whether a 1:1 setting was appropriate and properly revised the IEP to reflect his new placement.

Montgomery County Intermediate Unit No. 23 v. K.S., 79 IDELR 5 (E.D. Pa. 2021).

- An intermediate educational unit had to reimburse the parents of a 3-year-old boy with autism for the tuition and transportation costs they incurred when they placed their son in a general education preschool.
- Local educational agencies should not interpret their state's lack of a universal preschool program to mean they never have to fund general education preschool placements for children with disabilities.
- If a child needs such a placement to receive FAPE, the LEA may have to provide it at no cost to the parents.
- In this case, the IEU argued that it did not have to pay for a general education preschool placement unless the state made preschool-level instruction available to all children. Its misinterpretation of the IDEA and the state's special education code resulted in months of costly litigation.

- Not only did the student's third-, fourth-, and fifth-grade IEPs have "extremely similar goals and recommendations," but the evidence showed that she did not receive adequate instruction in reading and writing.
 The judge attributed some of the student's struggles to her special education teacher's lack of familiarity with the Orton-Gillingham approach to reading instruction. "[The teacher] believed that simple repetition of words taught a student how to read," the magistrate judge wrote, noting that the teacher conflicted memorization with decoding. conflated memorization with decoding.

Downingtown Area Sch. Dist. v. G.W., 77 IDELR 155 (E.D. Pa. 2020). • A Pennsylvania district denied FAPE to a student with autism and a speech language impairment from February 2017 to the end of the school year, and during the 2018-19 school year by failing to address the student's lack of progress and by failing to timely conduct needed evaluations. • When an IEP team repeats goals from one IEP to another, that's a red flag that the student may not be progressing appropriately. • For each goal that is repeated, the IEP team should consider whether the student requires additional or different services to improve. Otherwise, a court may find, as occurred here, that the IEP wasn't designed to enable the student to make progress. This team should have either changed the five

- Regardless of whether a district conducts an FBA of an IDEA-eligible student, it must ensure that the student's behavioral intervention plan or IEP adequately addresses her behaviors.
- A district that offers inadequate or ineffective behavioral interventions significantly increases its chances of being found liable for a denial of FAPE. Not only did the district in this case wait six months to conduct an FBA, but the interventions it eventually offered had no meaningful impact on the child's behavior.

Minnetonka Pub. Schs., Indep. Sch. Dist. No. 276, 78 IDELR 94 (D. Min. 2021).

- Regardless of how a district classifies an IDEA-eligible student's disabilities, it must ensure that it identifies and addresses all of the student's disabilityrelated needs.
- This means the district must evaluate the student in all suspected areas of disability, develop appropriate goals, and revise the IEP as needed to address the student's lack of progress.
- Although this student's evaluations revealed his ongoing struggles with reading, the district repeatedly developed IEPs that focused primarily on the student's needs as a child with autism.
