

Supporting Educators to Improve Student Functional and Behavioral Outcomes Community of Practice

Overview: The Wyoming Department of Education, Special Education Programs, is pleased to host a community of practice (CoP) to support educators in implementing classroom structures to improve student functional and behavioral outcomes for all students led by Christine Manning, Manning Behavior Consultants. This CoP is designed to support building teams by way of collaboration with administrators, general education teachers, special education teachers, case managers, and behavior support staff. Workshops will cover evidence-based practices to improve student behavior and academic outcomes for all students. Step by step guidance will be provided to ensure participants have the tools necessary for efficient and effective implementation. Short case studies will be provided to support problem-solving and effective team collaboration.

Sessions are targeted for both primary and secondary educators to best facilitate content and discussion; however, you may register for both the primary and secondary sessions, if desired. All sessions will be virtual.

During this CoP, participants will:

1. Be present as evidenced by comments and participation throughout each session.
2. Complete assignments and be prepared for upcoming session(s).
3. Commit to collaborate with your school or center teams.

Time Commitment: Series of five (5) 60-minute sessions with short prework and/or homework activities for both primary and secondary educators. Participants may attend all sessions, if desired. There is not a required number of sessions to participate; however, it is recommended to follow up with recorded sessions and assigned activities to obtain the full benefit of the community of practice.
